

ONE FLESH

For my husband

I look up to you
in response.
An ember

glows
in the conciliation
of difference.

I curl my body
into the long arc
of your back.

I kiss
the path
of your spine.

I draw calm
into the steep
decline of breath,

startled
by our belonging.